Manifest

Designed around the way people connect.

Furniture should never dictate how a space is used. It should respond to the people using it.

This collection brings together comfort, privacy and flexibility to create environments where ideas flow naturally and conversations feel effortless. Whether it's a quiet moment to focus, an informal meeting or a place to simply pause during the day, every configuration is designed to support the rhythm of modern working life.

Clean architectural lines meet warm materials to create furniture that feels inviting without demanding attention. The result is a collection that integrates seamlessly into contemporary interiors while offering the durability and adaptability expected from commercial furniture.

Thoughtfully engineered. Beautifully resolved. Built for the spaces people choose to spend time in.

Built for the moments in between.

The most valuable conversations rarely happen around scheduled meetings.

They begin between tasks, over coffee, during quick catch-ups or moments of quiet reflection. This collection creates spaces that encourage those everyday interactions while providing the comfort, privacy and flexibility needed for modern workplaces.

From open collaboration areas to dedicated breakout zones, every module has been designed to support changing ways of working without compromising on style, quality or functionality.

Why rift?

Good design isn't measured by how much attention it attracts.

It's measured by how naturally it becomes part of everyday life.

Rift was created to shape spaces that feel open, organised and effortless to use. Its architectural frame defines the environment without enclosing it, while integrated planters, warm timber details and upholstered seating introduce comfort in a subtle, purposeful way.

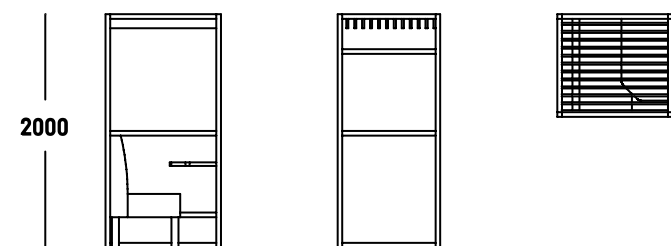

Rather than filling a room, Rift helps organise it - creating places to meet, pause and work without interrupting the flow of the space.

A collection designed to feel considered from every angle, and relevant for years to come.
